The article offers a new aspect of soil science, that will, as the authors stress, be of increasing importance to raise awareness for the resource. It highlights the most important fields of art and fosters the notion to look more deep into this fascinating field. I may increase also the awareness of soil scientists to look for soil everywhere in art! there are two minor errors to be corrected: p13, line 7: delete "as" p14, line 17: delete the second "that"
